Hotel Clerk Is Startled By Identity

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Oct. 18.—The hotel desk clerk took it as routine when Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Sullivan, honeymooners from New York, checked in.

But he blinked a few minutes later when another pair of young honeymooners approached the desk and also signed in as Mr. and Mrs. Donald P. Sullivan of New York.

The two sets of newweds never met until they got here. But both men are 23, both were married the same day in the same city, both attended Fordham University and both couples arrived here on the same airplane bound for the same hotel.

Donald Parker Sullivan, whose bride's name is Irene, lives in the Bronx; Donald Peter Sullivan, who is married to Joan, lives in New York City. Donald Parker is an insurance investigator and Donald Peter a salesman.

Otterville Observes Centennial

Old Farm Machines, Other Antique Items On Display at 100th Birthday of Town

Otterville observed its 100th birthday Saturday with a parade of bands floats and antique machinery and cars. Many of the towns older residents were taking part in the celebration.

The celebration proper was preceded by a religious service Friday evening, Oct. 18, at the high school at 7:30 o'clock, in which the Rev. D. Warren Neal, pastor of the Broadway Presbyterian Church in Sedalia, was the speaker. A choir of 75 voices presented a program. On Saturday a post centennial was observed at the Otterville IOOF Cemetery by the George Clark Harlan Post 84, American Legion, at 2 p. m., when taps were sounded in a memorial service.

Miss Judy Page, Centennial queen rode at the head of the parade at 10 o'clock Saturday morning.

Then came the afternoon events at 2 p. m. in the school auditorium, in which the principal address was by Lewis A. Eubank, dean at the University of Missouri, and a former Otterville resident. The invocation was by the Rev. Farrie L. Cole, Jr., and after Mayor J. H. Gunn's welcoming address and preceding that of Dean Eubank, distinguished guest were introduced. A musical number and benediction followed.

In the evening, at the Otterville Public School, home talent numbers were presented, concluding with a dance as the final one at 11 p. m.

Otterville's two oldest citizens were elated over the Centennial celebration, Saturday. They went back a few years in their days as young ladies, but praised the Otterville people. They were thrilled over the parade which was held, one of the first parades of length held in Otterville in years.

Mrs. Dora F. Lewis, who turned 95 November 15, 1956 and is looking forward to her 96 birthday next month, didn't participate in the parade but she sat on the steps of her home and watched. "That old steam engine, it was interesting," she told the reporter, "and all those other things were certainly nice Mrs. Lewis remarked.

Unions Okay Contract With Western Electric

NEW YORK, Oct. 19.—Telephone equipment installers of the Communications Workers of America (CWA) have endorsed a recently negotiated wage contract with the Western Electric Co.

Patrick J. Morgan, a CWA official, said yesterday returns had been received from 15 of the 17 locals that represent 23,800 installers. Voting results in the remaining two locals cannot change the outcome, he said.

The $150,000 bond issue will be for the purchase of the site, construction of the two fire stations and the purchase of two new pump-per-type fire trucks.

The $1,000,000 will be used to purchase the site, facilities and such equipment as is necessary in the municipal building and will give Sedalia adequate city office space and equipment second to none in Missouri for a city this size or larger.

The bonds will be general obligation bonds. It is one of the largest bond issues to be presented to the Sedalia voters in one proposal.

Wants Meet On Mid-East

Reds Say British and US Meeting Suggests Plot

LONDON, Oct. 19.—Moscow suggested today that Britain and the United States call Russia into an East-West summit conference aimed at restoring calm along the troubled border between Turkey and Syria.

Moscow radio timed its suggestion to coincide with a call by British Communist party Secretary John Gollan for summit talks "to stop war breaking out" in the Middle East.

The Communist strategy was unfolded only three days before Prime Minister Harold Macmillan flies to Washington for talks with President Eisenhower on a variety of world topics, including the Turkish-Syrian crisis.

A commentary in Moscow's English-language service asserted the two Western statesmen cannot solve the problem alone.

"If they really want to bring the Middle East back to normal, why don't they invite other countries to confer?" the broadcast asked.

It implied that the Soviet Union and probably Red China should be asked to join a round-table meeting designed to allay fears of a new world war springing from the Turkish-Syria dispute which Moscow seems content to keep at the boiling point.

"After all," Moscow radio said, "there is not a single international problem now that can be settled singly. But Mr. Macmillan's meeting with the President hints at a separate plot by one group of powers against others, against the Soviet Union in particular."

Red China has supported Soviet charges that the United States is inciting Turkey to invade Syria. It pledged military support for Syria in event of aggression.

The British Foreign office is cool to the idea of a summit conference. A spokesman said it was unlikely to be discussed by Eisenhower and Macmillan.

Travelers reaching Istanbul from the border said large numbers of Turkish infantry and armed units were occupying defensive positions along the border. They said the troops were well equipped with U. S.-made bazookas and recoilless rifles. They said, however, that frontier cities and villages were calm.

Says State Needs Water Conservation

Symington Speaks To Headwaters Assn. Meeting in Warsaw

WARSAW, Mo., Oct. 19.—Control and conservation of Missouri's water resources is needed if the state is to attract industry, keep its farm population and provide jobs for its youth, Sen. Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) said tonight.

In a speech prepared for delivery to the Headwaters Assn. of Lake of the Ozarks, Sen. Symington said:

"The plain fact of the matter is that our uncontrolled rivers have curtailed our ability to attract industry; and also, in our drought-scorched agricultural areas, many families have moved out and are moving out."

"As a result, it is now clear that we are not keeping abreast of the rest of the nation, in annual population or in industrial growth."

Symington said one third of Missouri's technical graduates leave the area upon graduation to seek employment elsewhere.

"Missouri is just not providing enough jobs for these young people who are entering the working force for the first time."

"Similarly, those forced to leave their farms have had difficulty in re-locating within our already industrially inadequate rural and metropolitan communities," said the Missouri senator.

In dustrial need for adequate water supplies and water transportation was listed by Symington as the reason that industry has often shied away from already water-short Missouri communities.

Symington suggested an eight-step statewide policy in regard to water resources for future development and increased productivity of the state.

278 Persons Attend Church Meeting Here

The opening session of the three-day ministerial convention of Jehovah's Witnesses at Convention Hall, Liberty Park, attracted an audience of 278 persons Friday night. Stressing the theme of the assembly, "Be Qualified to Teach," the Friday evening program pointed up home Bible study as a major feature of Christian work.

Raymond Anderson of New York, key spokesman for the Watchtower Society at this gathering, welcomed those in attendance saying, "School is now again in session; the teachers are in their places and we look forward in anticipation to the lesson."

Sixteen new ministers symbolized their dedication by water immersion.

High points of last night's session were actual demonstrations and detailed instructions on how to prepare and develop a sermon. Also how to use sermons effectively in making house-to-house calls. The people of Sedalia and vicinity are having an opportunity to see the assembly instruction put into practice as many of the visiting ministers are spending the mornings making home visitation.

The climax of the convention comes this afternoon at 3 o'clock when Anderson will deliver his widely advertised lecture to the public on the timely topic "What Are the Prospects for Lasting Peace?" The public is being cordially invited.

Reports Giant Drop Of Farm Population

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—A spectacular drop of 1,861,000 in the farm population of the United States in a single year was reported by the census bureau today.

This would mean that about one out of every 11 farm dwellers moved to the city—or was absorbed into a city area—between April 1956 and April 1957 when the counts were made.

Missouri Farmers Want to Pay Fines For Egg Throwers

PARMA, Mo., Oct. 19.—Farmers around this southeast Missouri town haven't been close enough to Secretary of Agriculture Benson to throw eggs at him, but they want to pay the fines of some people who were.

The move began today to take up a collection to pay fines levied against five South Dakota farmers who winged eggs at Benson Oct. 10 when he was speaking at a corn picking contest.

A spokesman said "we are not condoning the throwing of eggs but the sentiment behind the act."

Parma is in New Madrid County, heavily Democratic area of south-eastern Missouri.

US Pilot Crashes In Nonstop Flight

CORUNA, Spain, Oct. 19.—American pilot William Wyatt, attempting a nonstop Texas-Rome flight in a single engine plane, crashed into the sea off this port today. A Spanish fishing vessel rescued him.

Trying to beat a world distance record for light planes held by the late William Odom, Wyatt was forced to come down in the sea about 50 miles northwest of this Spanish coastal town because ice had formed on his wings.

Meeting Space for 3,400 Persons

Proposed Municipal Building Would Provide Ground Floor Space for Offices

The proposed new municipal building would provide ground floor space for city offices that deal directly with the public and thus would eliminate stair climbing and jammed corridors at license buying or tax paying time.

It would also provide a new jail to take the place of one that has been condemned by grand juries and other public officials. Another asset of a new municipal building would be a large auditorium that would accommodate meetings up to a total of 3,400 persons.

The auditorium would be constructed in two divisions. One area would be equipped with removable bleachers that would seat 2,400 persons for such things as basketball tournaments, concerts and other shows which would require a large arena. The second section would be designed specially for meetings and would have a stage with seating facilities for 1,000 persons. Special care would be taken to have good acoustics in this section so that speakers could be heard in the rear as well as in the front.

Also in the building would be catering facilities to serve banquets of around 1,000 persons.

Part of the building would house the city hall of a two-story design. On the second floor would be Council chambers, which would also be used for city, and offices for the Mayor and his secretary. Location of the building has not been definitely determined but is generally agreed by city officials that it would be in the immediate downtown area.

Also proposed are two fire stations which have been recommended not only by the City Planning Commission and Hare and Hare, but also by the Fire Inspection Bureau. It has been reported by City officials that these two stations would help keep insurance rates down.

The bond issues for the municipal building and the two fire stations are to be presented to the voters on Nov. 5. The bonds issue for the municipal building is for $1,000,000 and for the fire stations it would be $150,000. They will be voted on individually.

The $150,000 bond issue will be for the purchase of the site, construction of the two fire stations and the purchase of two new pump-per-type fire trucks.

The $1,000,000 will be used to purchase the site, facilities and such equipment as is necessary in the municipal building and will give Sedalia adequate city office space and equipment second to none in Missouri for a city this size or larger.

Public Library Notes

Books, Pamphlets, Magazines Give United Nations Data

With United Nations week beginning Sunday, the Sedalia Public Library this week reminded Sedalia residents that the library can provide information in books, magazines and pamphlets on all phases of the U.N. and its widespread activities.

One of the most readable and informative of the library's books on the United Nations is Clark Eichelberger's "U.N.: The First 10 Years," which gives an appraisal of the successes and failures of the U.S. since its inception. Mr. Eichelberger believes that without the United Nations the world could not have survived the tremendous and revolutionary developments of the last nine years.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is the co-author of an excellent book which shows the U.N. as an organization truly interested in people and not merely in political and economic theory. With William DeWitt she wrote "U. N.: Today and Tomorrow."

Other handbooks on the world organization include "The United Nations," by Louis Dolivet; "Everyman's United Nations," published by the U. N. department of public information; "The United Nations: Blueprint for Peace," by Stephen Fenichel; "United Nations Primer," by Sigrid Arne; "United Nations in Action," by Eugene Chase, and "United Nations or World Government," by Julia Emily Johnson.

Still another book, "Workshops for the World," by Graham Beckel, reviews the work of the 11 specialized agencies of the United Nations. In addition to these books published in recent years, the library has a collection of pamphlets and magazine articles which provide background on the work and accomplishments of the world organization.

No gold has been minted in the U.S. since 1933.

With United Nations week beginning Sunday, the Sedalia Public Library this week reminded Sedalia residents that the library can provide information in books, magazines and pamphlets on all phases of the U.N. and its widespread activities.

One of the most readable and informative of the library's books on the United Nations is Clark Eichelberger's "U.N.: The First 10 Years," which gives an appraisal of the successes and failures of the U.S. since its inception. Mr. Eichelberger believes that without the United Nations the world could not have survived the tremendous and revolutionary developments of the last nine years.

Church Women To Hold Meet On November 1

World Community Day, sponsored by the United Church Women, will be observed Friday, Nov. 1 at 8 p.m. at the Immanuel United Church of Christ, Fourth and Vermont.

Mrs. J. K. Braun, St. Louis, executive assistant to the secretary of the commission on world service of the Evangelical and Reformed Church, will be the speaker. She will speak on the work of church world service and tell how "packets for peace" have been used in the past and why more are needed.

Dufflebags have been delivered to churches for the purpose of packing the garments and blankets to be sent to areas of need. As a result of Soviet repression of freedom in Hungary, additional homeless thousands have been added to the many refugees still waiting in camps in Europe and the Near East with winter ahead, the need for blankets and warm clothing will mean not just comfort but survival. The pieces of denim, woollens or other serviceable material can be turned into needed garments by the women as they wait resettlement. Because of the cost of shipment and the 8 cents per pound for processing, only good clean useful articles should be sent.

The United States, Britain and Canada are the world's three most active trading nations.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is the co-author of an excellent book which shows the U.N. as an organization truly interested in people and not merely in political and economic theory. With William DeWitt she wrote "U. N.: Today and Tomorrow."

Other handbooks on the world organization include "The United Nations," by Louis Dolivet; "Everyman's United Nations," published by the U. N. department of public information; "The United Nations: Blueprint for Peace," by Stephen Fenichel; "United Nations Primer," by Sigrid Arne; "United Nations in Action," by Eugene Chase, and "United Nations or World Government," by Julia Emily Johnson.

Still another book, "Workshops for the World," by Graham Beckel, reviews the work of the 11 specialized agencies of the United Nations. In addition to these books published in recent years, the library has a collection of pamphlets and magazine articles which provide background on the work and accomplishments of the world organization.

Dates Ahead
Nov. 5 — County 4-H Council, assembly room of the courthouse at 8:00 p.m.

Nov. 9 — County 4-H Recognition Night, at Smith-Cotton High School Cafeteria for those 4-H members who completed their 4-H work for the year and 4-H community leaders.

Parents Have Part

What Every Parent should know. 4-H is dedicated to all boys and girls between 10 and 21 who want to "Learn by Doing."

1. The club — Members enroll in a community club. They elect officers and plan and conduct monthly meetings. The club trains them to work with others, teaches them to lead and to follow, gives them experience in public appearance and group action.

2. The project — Each member carries at least one project. There are 73 to choose from. Members keep records on their projects and are taught scientific ways of farming and homemaking.

They take part in activities which greatly increase their knowledge—such as demonstrations, tours, judging and exhibiting.

3. Recreation — Games and singing are included in monthly programs of local clubs. Special recreational events such as parties and picnics are planned throughout the year. Members also look forward to county recreation events such as county play night, share the fun programs and camp.

4. Adult Leaders — Each club has a community and assistant community club leader who serve as advisors in planning and conducting meetings and activities. Other adult voluntary leaders serve as Project Leaders or teachers for the various projects.

What Every Parent Can Do. The most successful 4-H members have the interest and support of their parents. If you are wondering just how you can help your's in 4-H — here are some suggestions.

1. Learn what 4-H is about, its purposes and objectives, the work required of members.

2. Attend club functions.

3. Serve as a leader or lend a hand wherever needed.

4. Help your child select a project that he will like, that he will have the ability to do, and one for which you can furnish the facilities and materials.

5. Give encouragement and guidance in projects but place full responsibility for the actual work on your boy or girl.

6. See that he or she has a way to go to community and project meetings.

7. Give your child an opportunity to participate in local and county activities such as Achievement Days, 4-H Camp, and 4-H Sunday.

8. Promote an attitude of good sportsmanship by maintaining good sportsmanship yourself.

9. Show appreciation to local leaders. Remember, they voluntarily give their time and talent so your children will have the same opportunities as those in other communities.

Through 4-H You Can Help Your Boy or Girl.

1. Acquire knowledge in farming, and home economics, develop character and leadership desirable for any profession, learn the satisfaction of community service.

2. 4-H is a cooperative venture. Its success depends on the combined efforts of the local leaders, members, parents and the county extension agents. Remember, the most important crop grown on our farms is our young people — so let's help them grow.

3. 4-H is an international organization with over 2 million members. In Missouri alone over 34,000 boys and girls carry on 4-H projects. They belong to 1700 4-H clubs. 4-H is a part of the Extension work in Agriculture and Home Economics carried on by the Cooperative Extension Service of the United States Department of Agriculture; the University of Missouri and the counties.

SEDALIA'S CITY PLAN is a BLUEPRINT FOR YOUR FUTURE!

For 50 years, up to 1920, Sedalia grew steadily in size and population. It offered a good living and a bright future to its residents.

Between 1920 and 1950, our population actually shrank. Since 1950, we have started growing again.

WE MUST GUARANTEE THAT THIS GROWTH WILL CONTINUE!

First and foremost, we must hold the industries we now have, and attract new industries—build our payroll income as the only solid foundation for any city's existence.

Your Planning and Zoning Commission engaged a nationally recognized firm of City Planning Engineers, Hare & Hare, to draw up a SEDALIA CITY PLAN for our future growth and prosperity.

THIS PLAN calls for two measures that are needed NOW, at this critical stage of our development, when we can either continue to progress—or fall back.

1. A New Municipal Community Center Building

- Modern Police Facilities, More Efficient City Services.
- Delegates are People With Money to Spend.

The State Fair has already established Sedalia as a natural center for State-wide gatherings. The Community Center Building with its downtown Convention facilities will help us to enjoy this important advantage all year long!

• There's Talent All Around Us!

—in our fellow citizens of all ages. The Community Center Auditorium brings us many hours of pleasure enjoying our own local talent, as well as nationally famous artists.

- Sedalia is a Basketball Town
The Community Center Building brings us a modern, tournament-class court that will inspire players and fans alike.

• Civil Defense

An adequate place to train workers as insurance against possible disaster—a communications center if disaster ever does come.

- Let's Show the World Our Community Spirit!

2. Two New Fire Stations

- Assure adequate fire protection, by 1957 standards, to all parts of the city.
- Necessary step for lowering fire insurance rates.
- Make our industrial sites attractive.
- Protect the lives and property of all our citizens.

Besides the pleasure and added service that the Municipal Community Center brings us—it will be a powerful factor in our bid for new industry.

For, says the Missouri Municipal Review—

"Industry is not merely looking for a place to locate a new factory, it is also looking for a place where its executives and employees will enjoy living."

HOW MUCH WILL IT COST?

Sedalia can enjoy the benefits of all three new facilities by an increase of only 20c per hundred dollars assessed valuation. If your assessment is $2,000, you will pay only $4 per year for the added protection, pleasure and future security.

"LET'S BE READY
WHEN
BLOWS!"

We Recommend that You Vote:

YES (X) FOR the Municipal Community Center
YES (X) FOR the 2 new fire stations

SPECIAL CITY ELECTION

NOVEMBER 5, 1957

Vote at your regular Polling Place, 6 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Every citizen should know all the facts, in order to make an informed decision on a matter of such importance to Sedalia's future. We believe the facts lead to only one conclusion, namely that reached by the Commission when we voted unanimously to endorse both recommendations of the City Planning Engineers. However, we urge each citizen to study these facts and arrive at his own conclusion. "Whether they like it or not; whether they know it or not; a collective responsibility rests upon the citizens of the present generation for making or marring their city's future."

—Preface to Sedalia City Plan.

One Out of Five Fatalities Was Accident Prone Person

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK — One out of five of the 96,000 persons killed in accidents in America in 1936, it is estimated, was accident-prone.

"Accident-proneness is a disease, a psychosomatic manifestation of a disease process," said Dr. John Henderson.

Dr. Henderson, medical director of Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J., is one of a growing number of experts in the field who feel that the nation's high accident rate cannot be effectively lowered until it is realized that accident-proneness is an ailment, just as are alcoholism and heart attacks, and proper treatment is employed.

The accident toll last year, beside 96,000 dead, included 9,500,000 injured, of whom 350,000 suffered permanent physical impairment. The National Safety Council estimated the cost at $11,200,000,000 in property damage and time lost from work.

As the result of studies, scientists now feel they can often detect by psychological tests the accident-prone person, who is usually either maladjusted emotionally or immature in judgment, or both.

"Accident-proneness is partly a matter of age," said Dr. Henderson. "It is not altogether an accident that the leading cause of death from the age of 1 to about 25 is accidents. This is the period of greatest rebellion, repression and emotional conflict."

"After 30 the tendency to have accidents begins to fall off. But there is much truth in an old adage of the insurance business—after three accidents luck is no longer the major factor in the picture."

Are you accident-prone yourself? You may be, according to Dr. Henderson, if:

1. You are fundamentally resentful against anyone or anything in life, carry a deep personal sense of guilt, or brood about your problems while you are at work or behind the wheel of a car;

2. You haven't won the acclaim you feel you deserve in an important field, and you drive east or dangerously merely to call attention to yourself; or

3. You become flustered in any emergency, and react emotionally—instead of with mature and immediate judgment.

"The ability to recognize these feelings of resentment and guilt is the key to gaining maturity," said Dr. Henderson. "Otherwise, they are polite ways of self-murder, leading the individual unconsciously to destroy himself."

"I believe that at least half the accidents in industry and the home and on the highways could be avoided. But this requires two things—the ability of accident-prone individuals to have insight into their personality problems and face up to the task of becoming well-adjusted; the detection by psychological tests of accident-prone persons who are a menace to both themselves and others on the highway or in many industrial jobs."

But is it possible for an accident-prone person ever really to become safe?

"Yes, very definitely," said Dr. Henderson. "He should talk out his problem with friends, his minister, his physician. Once he recognizes his problem, and adjusts to it, he can become a safe person."

But he does have to face his problem—and conquer it by growing up.

Queen, Prince Visit Stores, Football Game

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip went American today. They took in a football game and visited a supermarket to the delight of surprise of cart-pushing Saturday shoppers.

The royal couple watched Maryland's 21-7 upset of North Carolina at nearby College Park, Md.

Elizabeth mostly wore a poker face, in contrast to the lusty cheering of 43,000 fans, and never betrayed which side, if any, she was rooting for. But Philip picked a loser. He had told reporters he understood North Carolina was tipped to win.

One of their hosts, Gov. Theodore R. McKeldin of Maryland, had Elizabeth grinning at his antics. There was no question he was for Maryland. Every time the football Terrapins made progress, McKeldin was out of his seat, waving wildly. Elizabeth had to get up once, too, to see around him when Maryland intercepted a North Carolina pass.

It was at the Queenstown section of suburban West Hyattsville, Md., that Elizabeth and Philip pulled their surprise visit.

They had passed the supermarket as they rolled in President Eisenhower's bubbletop limousine to College Park. The Queen said she wished she could look in on the way back, and her wish was the State Department's command.

The supermarket's assistant manager, Donald A. D'Avanzo, was alerted an hour in advance. He was asked to keep the news to himself. Extra police arrived quickly to keep back the crowds.

One woman almost dropped her groceries when the Queen spoke to her. That was when her majesty, bemused by the grocery cart's little collapsible seat for small fry, beamed: "It is particularly nice to be able to bring your children here."

Elizabeth was showered at the game with gifts for herself, Philip and their youngsters—a carved glass bowl, a small equestrian china figure, Indian arrows and arrowheads, music boxes fashioned like a football.

McKeldin kept Elizabeth posted on what the game, her first, was all about. But she seemed far more interested in the sidelines—the cheer leaders, majorettes, card stunts spelling out her "EHR" royal monogram.

Ike and Mamie, Royal Couple Exchange Gifts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19 (AP)—The White House said today President and Mrs. Eisenhower last night exchanged gifts with Queen Elizabeth II and Prince Philip.

Eisenhower presented to the Queen and her husband a portrait of young Prince Charles which he painted during the last couple of weeks. The painting, 20 by 24 inches in size, is signed "D.E." The Eisenhowers also gave their royal guests a ceramic sculpture of Prince Philip on a polo pony.

The Queen and her husband gave the Eisenhowers a pair of porcelain life-size birds made at the Royal Worcester Factory in England and a cardtable of English walnut, black calfskin and plate glass. Designed around the D-Day plot for the invasion of Europe, the table contains an inlaid reproduction in color of the actual plot used by Eisenhower when he commanded the Normandy invasion.

There also were exchanges of gifts for the Eisenhower grandchildren and young Prince Charles and Princess Anne, but the White House withheld a description of these so the children would be surprised.

Hospitality Centers Opened

NEW YORK (AP)—Church-supported hospitality centers for U. S. servicemen and officers on leave in the Far East are doing booming business these days.

The Rev. Mr. Norman E. Koehler, back from three years in Japan where he set up seven centers, said the centers are filled to capacity almost every day. They're the result of cooperation between the Christian churches in Japan and American churches, through the General Commission on Chaplains.

The centers are unique, the Rev. Koehler said, because they were set up at the request of the Japanese churches to provide Christian fellowship for Protestant Japanese and American young men and women.

In addition to Japan, centers are operating in Hong Kong and Taipei.

Monkeys, Dogs Foil Theft With Noise

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 19 (AP)—Eighty monkeys and 150 dogs foiled a burglary attempt here last night.

Patrolmen Joseph Patkus and Jack Kennedy said they heard the screeching and barking, sped to Docktor's Pet Shop in Center City and arrested Joseph Sweet, 25, just around the corner.

Sweet admitted he and a partner tried to break into the second floor window of the pet shop, never dreaming the kennels were there, the patrolmen said.

"We've got 150 dogs in there from Chihuahuas to Great Danes and when one starts barking they all bark," said Manager Arthur Rees. "And 80 monkeys and you have a lot of noise."

Otterville

Mrs. Burford, told the reporter, "today is my wedding anniversary. I was married this morning 65 years ago in Sedalia. After the wedding at my sister's home there, my husband and I were driven to the railroad station in a surrey pulled by two white horses and we caught the noon train out of Sedalia and came to Otterville, then to our home two miles south-east of Otterville. I lived there until seven years ago when I built my home and moved to Otterville.

"My husband and I lived on the old Burford farm which he bought from the heirs, and it was in the family for 104 years" Mrs. Burford said. Continuing she said, "I was the mother of six children, and reared four. Two died in childhood and my son was a seargeant in World War I and a mail carrier in the Otterville postoffice, and he died seven years ago. I have three married children, nine grandchildren and 23 great grandchildren."

Her husband was killed on the family farm March 13, 1937 when the big snow storm hit and he was crushed in a shed which fell upon him from the heavy snow. In the buggy with her was her daughter Mrs. W. B. Edwards, Route 1, La Monte, her son Arthur Y. Burford, 1407 South Warren, Sedalia, her granddaughter, Mrs. Willard Walje, Route 1, Otterville, and her son Eugene Walje, 13.

Her husband was the late Arthur Lafayette Burford.

Mrs. Burford was born near Pilot Grove where she was reared and educated.

Mrs. Lewis was born three miles east of Otterville, and resided in the immediate community her entire life. She was married to James O. Lewis, Dec. 23, 1870, and her husband died April 23, 1930.

She was the mother of two children, a daughter died at the age of two and her son "Willie" died several years ago.

Mrs. Lewis said she has no close relatives living.

She said that she had been residing in her present home for 42 years, and "I live alone, but I don't like it," she said.

But Saturday was a big day for these two Otterville residents.

Sedalia Honors Await 15 Top NCOs, Airmen

Fifteen outstanding September "airmen and NCOs of the month" of Whiteman's various squadrons were announced by the base special services office last week.

Each month one member of Sedalia's civic club council honors these selected personnel at a club luncheon or dinner meeting. The airmen are addressed by a speaker from the local area and present-

Whiteman AB Youth Center Is Opened

One of the most novel Youth Centers in Missouri opened Saturday night at the Whiteman Air living on the base. The opening Force Base for the teen-agers living on the base. The opening was attended by civic leaders from the various communities and was accepted with glee by the many boys and girls who live with their parents at the base housing area.

The center is in the old World War II Red Cross building which was formerly connected with the old hospital buildings. After reactivation of the base in 1952, it was used by the Air Force for athletics, meetings and social activities.

After new buildings were constructed for such activities, it was decided to convert it into the Youth Center. The two-story structure was renovated by the Non-Commissioned Officers of the base. They lowered ceilings, painted the interior in pastel colors, cleaned the place up and made various changes which would be more usable by the teen-agers.

The large auditorium was redecorated and arranged for the youngsters to hold their parties and dances. There is a reading room, lounge room, office room for the supervisor, upstairs rooms to be used by various groups.

The building is to house the Teen-Age Club, Boy Scouts, Explorer Scouts, Cub Scouts, Brownies, Junior Air Police, Model Airplane Club, Hobby Craft Club, Square Dance Club, and any teenage organization which might come with the boys and girls on the base.

Chaplain Thomas M. Campbell is temporarily in charge of the activities at the building until a full time supervisor can be selected from a list of names which has been submitted.

The Officers Wives Club recently held a carnival to raise money to help in making it possible, while contributions were received from other various activities from the base, while all of the labor was provided by the Non-Commissioned Officers.

Otterville's Centennial

While Sedalia is planning a Centennial celebration two years hence, our neighbor town—Otterville—13 miles to the east, is today viewing one in retrospect — Saturday's 100th anniversary event in that community having been appropriately observed with parade and programs.

Today there will be a post centennial Memorial service at the Otterville I.O.O.F. cemetery. This community has contributed many successful and patriotic citizens to the service of their country during peace as well as war.

Sometimes this is overshadowed by the spectacularity of the Otterville train robbery in which Jesse James and his gang participated. But lovers of the current gun smoke operas would have gotten a live eyeful of some rootin', tootin', shootin' in and around Otterville in the October days of 93 years ago.

The war between the states was on and General Sterling Price with a well organized force of Confederates was on a march through Missouri. History records that Col. John D. Crawford, a tried and trusted Union soldier, organized the defenses of his home community to repel invasion. Sometime between October 10 and 13 the wires between Jefferson City and Sedalia were cut, and news reached Sedalia that the Otterville bridge would be burned, thus cutting off Sedalia from communications and aid.

Col. Crawford took a force of twenty-five picked men on a flat car with an engine and went to Otterville to reconnoiter. He found the bridge burning and the countryside filled with roaming Confederates. He returned with his force to Sedalia but the next day went again to Otterville with a small force of his cavalry to make a second reconnoiter. Near the mill and blacksmith shops in the eastern suburbs, to which the enemy were driven, he came upon a squad of Confederates and each party fired a volley. A rebel was wounded, spared from death, and taken to the home of Dr. Sanders. The Federals drove the Confederates out of town. Light earthworks had been thrown up around the town as a defense. Remnants of some still exist east of Otterville and may be seen from Highway 50 today. Col. Crawford and his men returned to Sedalia and were involved later in the capture of their own home town by swarms of Price's men who moved in from the north over what is now Crown Hill cemetery.

The capture of Sedalia is a rough and tumble, bloody story recorded in an 1882 tome about Pettis county. As chronicled, Otterville, too, was a focal point for bushwhacking and rebel raids, and the shedding of much blood.

Some of those who lost their lives in the intermittent conflicts in that neighborhood and those who served in the armies during the Civil and other wars are honored today in Otterville's Post Centennial Day observance.

Sedalians compliment the good citizens of Otterville for their enterprise and capable administration of a Centennial program. Former citizens from distant parts of the country as well as Central Missouri neighbors came to wish them another 100 years of prosperity and preservation of that kind of community neighborliness which makes for contented living in these parts.

Reminder of Freedoms We Inherited

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Queen Elizabeth II looked as lovely as the fall foliage as she visited the state named for her ancestor, the first Queen Elizabeth . . . A lot of things have changed in those 400 years since Sir Walter Raleigh gave his new found colony the name, Virginia, for the virgin queen. Even the word "Raleigh" has new connotations, and according to Madison Avenue, is now chiefly identified with cigarettes . . . Probably Elizabeth II isn't aware of this. But she is aware, keenly aware, of other things. You get the feeling that this young woman, visiting the land named for the first Queen Elizabeth 400 years later, has a sense of the change, and that she is riding with history. Her ancestors made history, sometimes bad history. But she is riding with history — unable in these days of hemmed-in monarchy to change it, but nevertheless curious, eager, worried about it — worried about the change that has come over her own empire, curious about the friendly democracy she is visiting today. . . . Despite her tweediness and love of horse-riding, the Queen is a serious person. One private remark indicates her serious curiosity. She wanted to know why there was anti-semitism in the United States. In her country where such Jews as Disraeli served as Prime Minister; Emanuel Shinwell, Defense Minister; Hore-Belisha, Secretary of War; and the Marquess of Reading, Viceroy of India, such prejudice doesn't exist. . . . So the Queen was curious.

The Bill of Rights — Yes, on the surface things have changed since Sir Walter Raleigh named Virginia for Elizabeth I. But one thing hasn't changed — the fundamentals of government we inherited from the country over which Elizabeth II rules today. It was near Orange, Virginia, that James Madison, a Virginian of English ancestry, sat under a tree with John Leland, also of English ancestry, to work out the first amendments to our constitution — The Bill of Rights. Those Rights had come from centuries of human struggle by the British people. They had won the principle of habeas corpus, the right of privacy, prohibition against bills of attainder, and the much-criticized fifth amendment, the right of a citizen not to testify against himself . . . These freedoms were not won easily.

Guest Editorial

OMAHA WORLD-HERALD: The Proof Of Futility. Using Department of Agriculture statistics, the October Letter of the First National City Bank of New York compared farm production in 1953, when there were no acreage restrictions on major crops, with that in 1957, when there are. The figures make an interesting study.

In 1957, corn acreage is 10 per cent less than in 1953, but total production is estimated at less than one-half of 1 per cent lower. Wheat acreage has been reduced 37 per cent, but production only 21. Cotton acreage is down 42 per cent, production only 19.

Acres which were removed from production of those major crops went into unrestricted crops. Thus, barley acreage has increased 67 per cent and production 74 per cent, soybeans are up 47 and 71, grain sorghums up 200 per cent in acreage, 315 per cent in production.

Farmers and others who study this comparison can hardly escape the conclusion that the expensive efforts of government to regulate the farm economy have been futile. And there is nothing in this picture to indicate that more of the same will fare better.

Dean William I. Myers of Cornell University recently offered this remedy:

"Both farmers and the nation would be better off if we lower price supports and move toward free markets to guide production and consumption, and gradually relax acreage restrictions."

The thirteen struggling colonies perfected some of them, wrote them into their constitution. But basically they were inherited from other Englishmen who had fought and died through the centuries to win them — beginning in 1215 with the Magna Carta . . . Incidentally, it was the military expenditures of King Richard the Lionhearted in his crusade to the Holy Land that caused a rebellion against high taxes and helped hammer the Magna Carta into shape. Even in those days, governments had to worry about debt ceilings, military budgets, not for Sputniks or ICBM's, but for lances, swords, and armor plate.

Blood of Martyrs — Some of England's greatest battles for man's freedom took place just as our ancestors were settling on this continent. And most of them took place against the royal ancestors of the young Queen who is now the guardian and protector of those hard-fought rights . . . The right of privacy, the ban on unlawful search, Lord Chatham's dictum that "the poorest man may in his cottage bid defiance of the Crown" was written with the blood of Algernon Sidney, second son of the Earl of Leicester who had left in his trunk an old manuscript reflecting on the advantages of a republican form of government. The King, he said, has three superiors: "God, the law, and the power of the people vested in Parliament." For this he was executed. But resentment against his execution brought about the English guarantee against illegal search and seizure . . . Then there was our right of petition, the right to address Congress, the right to lobby. We inherited it from the trials and tribulations of Lord George Gordon, who was arrested for high treason when he led a crowd of Protestants in petitioning the House of Commons. At his trial, it was charged that "tumultuous petition is treason." He was acquitted, and that acquittal established the right of assembly and petition . . . There was also Dr. Tutchin, convicted of seditious libel under Queen Anne for criticizing mismanagement of the Royal Navy. "To possess the people of an ill opinion of the government is a crime," it was charged. "No government can be safe if it is criticized." . . . A storm of protest erupted, and from it the right to criticize government was evolved. Imagine what we would be like without that right today!

Freedom of the Press — Freedom of the press was hammered out in the English courts just before the American colonies started their push toward freedom. The battle was contagious. It percolated across the Atlantic . . . John Wilkes, publisher of the North Britain, claimed the right to criticize ministers of government by name. "The use of names is essential to the development of sound political literature," he wrote. . . . Wilkes was charged with libel, fought his case so long and so successfully that Lord Bute resigned as Prime Minister. This was in 1769. That battle for a free press in England made a profound impression in America.

The young Queen who visits us also has felt the stings and jibes of a free press. But times have changed. She is just as much a defender of the right to criticize even when turned against her, as she is a symbol of the freedoms for which our ancestors fought and of which we are the fortunate beneficiaries.

The Fly Ball and the Grounder

Hero-Worshipping Teen-Agers Like Eisenhower, Grace Kelly

By EUGENE GILBERT

For all their surface sophistication, teen-aged American boys and girls are still hero-worshippers at heart, just as were their fathers and mothers.

And, like their voting parents in '32 and '56, they like Ike. In fact, they go further in their expressed desires, and would like to be like him.

We polled these young men recently and found that one out of three held President Eisenhower as the man they would most like to pattern their own lives after.

Judging by their comment, the teen-agers not only admire the President as a leader of men in peace and war but also as a man.

"The youth of America should all try to follow Eisenhower's example," recommended 17-year-old Roy. "That would be the death of juvenile delinquency."

The President, said an Austrian-born Jon Schwarz, "deserves and has won the affection of most of the world. If I could be even a little like him I would consider myself a success in life."

"I've looked up to Ike since the war," added New Yorker Dick Calahan. "He's a real prince."

Elvis Presley, the gyrating rock 'n' roller, showed up as a rather distant second to the President in our poll. One out of seven wanted most to be like him. They admired him for his material success.

"Girls! Girls! Girls!" enthused a Texas teen. "Elvis has them by the hundred. Man, wouldn't I dig that! You bet I would!"

"This Presley lives it up," observed a 16-year-old from Tennessee, "Elvis' home state. 'Cars, gals, money to burn. Any kid would like his share.'"

Vice President Nixon (one in 17) and playwright Arthur Miller (one in 33) also had their admirers, whose reasoning showed considerable diversity.

"I think a great many young men admire Nixon because he has come so far in so short a time," was the studied conclusion of a Massachusetts college freshman. "I for one think he's the greatest."

"Oh, brother," exclaimed a Bronx boy (an admirer of Miller, not Nixon) "just to have Marilyn meet me at the door after work . . . I'd be so dazzled, I'd just flip."

"Mr. Monroe," sighed 15-year-old Sid. "What a life! Like Paradise on earth!"

Playwright Miller, of course, is the current husband of buxom, blonde movie actress Marilyn Monroe. None of the teen-agers polled mentioned his literary success.

A surprisingly large number of young men (one in 33) gave their idol vote to President Nasser of Egypt—for his resourcefulness and not necessarily for his policy.

"This Nasser guy knows how to use his power," commented a Newark, N.J., youth. "Believe me, I would appreciate having his guts even if I don't exactly agree with his policy."

"The man can do anything and make the world take it," added an 18-year-old college sophomore.

The kids also proved to us that baseball slugger Babe Ruth's memory lives on. One in 25 still hold him as a top idol. For current Yankee Mickey Mantle it was one in 50.

The teen-aged girls (we polled them, too) displayed a marked taste for royalty—both the real and reel kind.

Grace Kelly, the movie queen who became a real-life princess, was the favorite. One in five girls told us they wanted most to be like her when they grew up.

"Not only has Grace Kelly done all those marvelous things but now she has the most adorable baby as well," sighed 17-year-old Mary-Louise Bier of Westchester, N.Y.

"How could a girl help but admire her?"

Queen Elizabeth of Britain and Marilyn Monroe of Hollywood each proved to be the idol of one in seven young women.

"She (Queen Elizabeth) represents all the finest qualities of womanhood," asserted a 16-year-old. "How many women could lead such a strenuous life and yet remain a good wife and mother? She will always be my ideal."

"Marilyn," observed 18-year-old Jan, "is one person who graduated with honors from the school of hard knocks—and she made her way to the top, a place where I, too, would like to sit sometime."

Other top choice idols among the girls were Mamie Eisenhower (one in 10) and Princess Margaret of Britain (one in 20) and Cleopatra, queen of ancient Egypt (one in 25).

While most of the chosen idols were men and women of note and most of the comments were highly romantic, the choice and explanation of 18-year-old Simon was noteworthy. Said he:

"I'd like to pattern myself after my dad who died during the second World War. He was what I'd call a hero."

Democrat Pick-ups

Odds and Ends
By News Staff

IT WAS A very hot day the latter part of September when a man walked into the Chamber of Commerce office and said: "I want to make a reservation."

"A reservation for what?" questioned a member of the Chamber staff.

"A reservation for a Santa Claus suit on December 23rd."

And so the reservation was made—the first of the Christmas season, for a red suit and the white whiskers, on Dec. 23rd, while almost everybody was still in summer clothes and wiping perspiration.

Some flatfish, including halibut, flounder and sole, have both eyes on the same side of the head.

The Persian Rug

The trees have all turned litterbugs. They let their leaves fall down. Until they look like Persian rugs. Bright colored on the ground; There's mostly red but now and then There's yellow and some green

And sunshine on them now is when Their loveliness is seen;

A Persian rug takes years and years For anyone who weaves

But suddenly our rug appears That's made of autumn leaves;

Still Persian rugs will last and last And hold each brilliant shade,

But rugs of leaves will go so fast Soon after they are made;

For when the leaves come tumbling down To make this carpet new

They always start to turning brown And lose their vivid hue;

But now today no millionaire Upon his mansion floor

(Although I'm certain ours won't wear) Can boast of any more,

A gorgeous autumn rug have we, Leaves that made summer shade

Have colored and dropped from the tree, I wish they wouldn't fade.

U. S. Moralistic Position

Our Allies Can't Quite Understand Little Rock

By JOSEPH A. DEAR
Of Our Washington Bureau

WASHINGTON — An apologetic cough, an anxious look, and then the inevitable question about Little Rock.

That's been the pattern in England, France, Italy, Greece, Turkey.

"Do you realize the incredible harm this has done you," a Greek asked. "We've received thousands and thousands of letters about it," a British editor said.

One French journal acidly commented that the United States was indeed lucky that its Negro minority sought only an education and not independent statehood. (Algerian nationalists are fighting for independence from France.)

A Turkish official wondered why we hadn't suppressed the news from Little Rock. An Italian student, by some mysterious process of reasoning, had decided that Secretary of State Dulles was to blame.

The news from Little Rock has been supplemented by a report that another American missile fizzled. And by Russia's successful launching of an earth-circling satellite.

All in all, a depressing succession of events. And the surprising thing is not the loss of prestige, but that we haven't lost more.

We are saved through stultifying perversity. The image of United States shared by millions everywhere is that of the horribly good rich boy. An unbearable type.

And that's the type we seemed to be. Everybody's in shock to us. That would be quite enough to assure us of a certain unpopularity.

But also we hand out moralistic advice without limit. At least that's the way it seems to the rest of the world. We dust off that high-flown doctrine of self determination to solve the Cyprus issue. The British, Greeks, and Turks are amazed.

Uncle Sam wrinkles his nose when the subject of increasing trade with Russia and Red China arises. But the economics of our allies are creaking, and they're not sure they can afford our moralistic position.

We needle the French about Algeria. But 1.5 million Frenchmen were born there, and they think it's their birthright they fight for. Secretary Dulles says it's immoral to be neutral. Our allies squirm uncomfortably.

Then President Ike dispatches a crack air borne outfit to Little Rock. We stand revealed as mere humans after all. Very rich, of course, but no longer horribly good. And we still have friends.

One French paper ran a picture of white children jeering Negro children on their way to school. It was the caption that counted: "This is a picture America is ashamed of."

During NATO maneuvers off Turkey, it was reported that a Russian plane was winging towards the 6th Fleet. "Too bad you didn't get him," a British editor said. "They've shot down enough of yours." His paper, incidentally, has taken an anti-American line many times.

Little Rock hasn't brought a rush of business to the movie houses showing Charles Chaplin's latest, "A King in New York," which is definitely anti-American in tone. The film has created hardly a ripple.

And that isn't surprising anyway, because it's a turkey. Chaplin, a true genius, may not have lost his touch entirely, but he's certainly been out of touch. His television terminology, for example, is simply wrong.

(The film concerns a deposed King, who recoups his fortune in New York by sponsoring various products on TV. The King (Chaplin) befriends an obnoxious child from a progressive school whose father, a teacher, has run afoul of the Un-American Activities Committee. The teacher admits past Communist party membership but refuses to identify others. The obnoxious child (Chaplin's son, Michael) saves him from the clink by making the identifications.)

The film has no direct bearing on Little Rock. Chaplin is working over yesterday's bogeyman. But if American unpopularity were increasing, there might be a backward transference of dislikes. And when that happens even bad films may prosper.

Perhaps it's just that the British are sensible enough to know that tomorrow Little Rock will be another of yesterday's bogeymen.

Dr. Jordan Says

Cold Sores Can Develop Without Apparent Reason

By Edwin P. Jordan, M. D.

"Fever blisters," or cold sores, when they appear at frequent intervals, are extremely annoying. The medical name for cold sores is herpes simplex; the cause is a virus which is a small living organism too tiny to see under the ordinary microscope.

Cold sores are most common around the edges of the lip or the nose. Why they should prefer these locations is not clear, though the mucous membranes of the lips and outer nasal passages are presumed to be more sensitive to attack by the virus than other areas. Herpes is particularly common in association with colds or fevers of almost any kind. Too much sun, fatigue, and anything else which lowers the resistance also favor the development of — or the reappearance — of herpes.

The virus causing herpes is closely related to the virus which causes encephalitis (American sleeping sickness or brain fever). When the herpes virus is injected into rabbit it may produce a fatal form of brain infection in those animals. In human beings, however, cold sores hardly ever lead directly to inflammation of the brain or encephalitis.

An ordinary cold sore does not need to be described, since everyone knows what it looks like. Stinging blisters at or near the junction between the skin and the mucous membrane of the lip or nose are common. Although the condition may occur elsewhere, those who are troubled with herpes, either of the occasional variety or the frequently repeated kind, usually have their lesions in these areas.

When herpes accompanies some other disease, the cold sores generally disappear as the patient recovers.

In a few people, however, cold sores keep coming back again and again entirely unrelated to any obvious cause. This is probably because the virus remains in the tissues and becomes active only when the circumstances favor its growth. The lesions are somewhat uncomfortable as well as being unsightly.

Treatment is not always easy. Protective ointments may be helpful. Small doses of X-rays have been used and may prevent future attacks.

One of the most interesting forms of treatment which has been tried in recent years is smallpox vaccination. The smallpox vaccine is itself, of course, a virus preparation, and why it should have a helpful effect in cold sores is hard to understand. Nevertheless in many cases of herpes simplex, smallpox vaccination has helped to prevent the cold sores from coming back again and again.

In reply to Mrs. M., I do not believe that vitamins have any specific effect on fever blisters.

Ruth Millett Says—

Teen-agers Fail to See Immaturity of Their Acts

When their 15-year-old daughter ran off and married the 19-year-old boy she had been dating for several months, her parents were stunned with disbelief.

They shouldn't have been. In fact, it was a possibility they should have considered when they let their tenth-grader start dating a boy who was through high school and was working.

The boy, no longer financially dependent on his parents, could do as he pleased. It didn't take him long to convince the girl that her parents were too strict, that she had a right to lead her own life, and that if they were married, there wouldn't be anything the parents could do about it.

And sure enough, there wasn't. For by the time the parents found out about the runaway marriage, a baby was on the way. All they could say to their daughter was: "We didn't choose marriage for you. You chose it for yourself. Now you will have to assume all of its obligations and responsibilities."

If the boy and the girl have enough character, despite their youth they may make a go of the marriage. It won't be easy. Both will have given up a lot for their shortsightedness.

The girl will have given up her chance for an education made easy by parents anxious to give her every advantage. The boy will be stuck in the small job he has because with a wife and child to support he can't afford to take chances.

It isn't the kind of start in life thoughtful, loving, conscientious parents would choose for their children.

But, in a way, it is one of the choices the girl's parents offered her when they let her start dating a boy old enough to be on his own and to feel he could offer her marriage.

"What difference does it make that he is older than I am?" teenage girls who are flattered by the attention of an older boy ask their parents.

Instead of listening to the girl's immature arguments, the parents should say, "It makes a lot of difference," and sit down and explain the facts as they see them.

Missouri Maid of Milk Symbol Of a Million Dollar Industry

By LESLIE G. KENNON

A personable 18-year-old dairy farm girl reigns as Miss Missouri Maid of Milk—symbol of an industry which has brought this state to 10th ranking in the nation's milk production and second only to Wisconsin in cheese.

Mary Jane Hazlip, of Sarcoxie, daughter of a dairy farmer with 21 cows on his farm, will spend 1957 and 1958 with a host of activities which will keep her busy almost every day—particularly next spring and summer.

She'll give home economic demonstrations on television, attend all kinds of dairy meetings, participate in such things as the recent "Missouri Day" and other public celebrations, visit colleges, attend festivals, do radio shows, give talks to civic organizations, serve as hostess at various functions, ride in parades, crown other queens and award ribbons at fairs. All this is a part of the promotion by the American Dairy Association to make people cognizant of the big part the dairy industry plays in Missouri.

All dairy breeds are represented in Missouri and, as of January, 1957, there were 899,000 cows on Missouri's dairy farms. Some 92,075,000 pounds of cheese were produced in this state in 1956 and that same year milk production reached a value of $130,339,000.

"Missouri is as diversified in dairying as she is in everything," says Loren Gafke of the American Dairy Association offices in Columbia. "She produces milk, cream, cheese, butter, ice cream—all the dairy products—and in big quantity and high quality." One giant industry, for example, has its national headquarters in St. Louis (Pet Milk).

As for Mary Jane and her background, here's how important it is for the young ladies chosen as Miss Maid of Milk to have true dairy farm backgrounds:

The 5-foot, 8-inch girl, who graduated from Carthage High School and now attends Pittsburg, Kansas State Teachers College, has milked as many as 28 cows. She's majoring in home economics and plans to teach it.

She's been in 4-H work eight years and four years in FHA and, last year, she was employed as a demonstrator by a Joplin dairy firm.

If you think she hasn't got a real background in accomplishments in farming, take another look, brother:

In 1957, through 4-H work, she was the county's grooming winner; gave a blue ribbon dairy foods demonstration, was second in a style revue and third in demonstrations. The year before, she had won the county's grooming prize, was a district grooming alternate and was county delegate to the State 4-H club week.

She's held just about every office in 4-H that's possible. She has participated in style revue and grooming contests for eight years; in dairy for four years; sheep, 2; poultry, 2; clothing, 9; foods, 7; home grounds, 2; handicraft, 4; and home improvement, 3. And she's owned, raised and showed her own registered Guernseys.

There's a lot more to it than that: Mary Jane has been outstanding in high school (upper eighth of class, Curator's scholarship, pep club, literary society, cheerleader, newspaper staff, etc.) and now in college (treasurer of freshman class, secretary of her dormitory, etc.).

The Miss Maid of Milk contests are held first on a county basis, and this year 22 of them met in finals in Springfield, a dairying center. The rules of entering and judging are stringent and enforced. And when a winner comes forth, the dairymen of Missouri know—she represents their interests best because she knows what it's all about. She knows dairying, she knows farming, and she knows the giant place the dairy industry holds in the Show-Me State.

Wellington Hinze Speaks

Credit Union League Holds Banquet at Wesley Methodist

Participating in International Credit Union Day, the West Central Chapter of the Missouri Credit Union League observed the day with a banquet at the Wesley Methodist Church Thursday night.

Wellington Hinze, district director of the Cumma Mutual Insurance Society, was the speaker of the evening and told of the founding of the first credit union in 1848 which was promoted by seven farmers.

Today, the speaker said, the borrowing of money is not looked upon as a sin. People have constant need for money and this self help has been the answer to people all over the United States, Canada and many other places and wherever there are credit unions the people are gathered to celebrate just as the people of the West Central Chapter.

In Jamaica, he said, the average worker brings home about $14 a week. Of course, Hinze said, those people live more cheaply than here but it is still very little wages and the credit union is a great help.

All credit unions, Hinze pointed out, are for the purpose of stimulating savings among people and from a humble beginning the idea of the credit unions have spread. There is one thought in mind in the credit union, that is the character of the individual to whom this money is given on a loan. If they are not the right kind of people they are not wanted in the credit union. But on the whole people are all right and this organization believes in dealing with members as human beings and helping when help is needed. As credit unions began to spring up, people started asking for information and began to organize credit union leagues.

Then they asked for another central organization and the National Association was formed, Hinze said.

Then there arose another need for families, Hinze told the group and the Mutual Insurance was formed. In the 20 years that this insurance has been in existence it now ranks 24th among all the insurance companies of the country. The speaker then explained thoroughly the many benefits from the Cumma Mutual Insurance Society.

The thing that has made the Credit Unions grow and click as it has, Hinze said, is the faith we have in one another. We must live close together and understand each other, he said, and participation in credit union strengthens it all over the country.

The evening opened with invocation by the Rev. Walter D. Niles, pastor of the Wesley Methodist Church.

Group singing was led by Ray Banks with Herb Berlin at the piano.

Guests introduced by Gerald King, toastmaster, were: Mrs. Everett White, Town and Country and Mr. White; Dave Rush, Town and Country; Mr. and Mrs. Karl Baumbler, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Seefelt and Mr. and Mrs. Church Carroll, all of Pittsburgh Corning; Henry Hellmers and Anthony Northrup, both with Pittsburgh Corning, Port Allegany, Pa.

Seated at the head table were the new officers of the West Central Chapter who were introduced: president, Lorenz Viebrock, and Mrs. Viebrock; vice-president, Jim Anderson and Mrs. Anderson; registrar, Joe Fuiks; Walter Haake, special representative of Cumma Mutual and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Smith.

Robert F. Long was presented the Brother's Keepers Award of the West Central Chapter, the presentation being made by Gerald King.

More than 200 people attended the banquet.

Tigers Take CMC Lead With 32-19 Win Over Columbia

Bengals Make Homecoming A Happy Day

Homecoming at Smith-Cotton was made a happy one Friday night as the Smith-Cotton Tigers disposed of the Hickman Kewpies of Columbia 32 to 19 on the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium gridiron. It placed the Tigers in top position in the Central Missouri Conference as undefeated with a 3-0 record, and with their only real obstacle being the Jefferson City Jays who they meet next Friday at the Capital City.

The Kewpies trounced upon the Jays during their own Homecoming a week ago 31 to 14, which put one loss to the Jays in the Conference, giving them a 3-1 record. The loss to Smith-Cotton Friday night puts Columbia in a tie with Jefferson City.

Jefferson City, Mexico and Kemper Military Academy still remain to be played by the Tigers, and from reports the Tigers should be able to tack both Kemper and Mexico under their belt without too much trouble. The Jays are "gunning" for the Tigers, and a victory will put the Kewpies, Jays and Tigers into a three-way tie, which the Tigers are hopeful will not occur.

The first scoring in the game with Hickman came in the first quarter. The Tigers kicked off and the Kewpies were forced to punt on their fourth down. The Tigers picked up a first down and failed to make another on a fourth down. The Kewpies took over on their own 37 yard line. A 29-yard pass with a four-yard gain and a three-yard loss put it on the Tiger 10. James Baldwin added six, then Estes carried it over. Charles Simpson kicked the goal.

The Tigers on the kickoff took it on their own 40-yard line. Coupled with two first downs in which Marshall Bryan had a 13 and an eight yard gain and Tommy Herrick went 36 yards, the ball moved to the one, where Bryan took it over and he made a successful conversion to tie it up.

The first quarter ended 7 and 7. The second quarter opened with the Tigers in possession of the ball on their own 20-yard line. Making five first downs the ball was on the one-yard line, and Dennis Whitfield carried it over for the score. The ball was fumbled and the Tigers had a 13-7 lead.

The half time score gave the Tigers 13, Kewpies 7. On the kickoff, Columbia kicked to Smith-Cotton and they took over on their 33 yard line. Sparked by a 22 yard gain by Herrick, Bryan's 16-yard gain and several smaller gains for three first downs, the ball was on the 18. Bryan and Kasak picked up six yards, then Dick Woodsmall made a perfect pitchout to Herrick who made a snappy pass to Bryan for 12 yards and the touchdown. Bryan's kick was wide. The Tigers then had a 19-7 lead.

Columbia brought the fans to their feet in the next two plays. Gates kicked off to Estes on his 14 who returned to the 31. Then on the next play and crisscross Estes took the ball, eased through the Tigers and dashed 69 yards for a touchdown, with Whitfield making a fruitless effort to overtake him. Bryan blocked Simpson's kick.

James Shettlesworth made a short kick and Bethke took it on the 38 and moved to the 49. Herrick picked up 3 yards and moved into the Columbia territory. But on the next play Woodsmall tried to pass and it was intercepted by Brian Hudspeth on his 38 and moved to his 45. The Kewpies got to the Tiger 46 yard line, then were penalized 15 yards. Ronnie Cox, Kewpie quarterback tried to pass and Bryan intercepted it on the Columbia 49 and dashed to the Kewpies' five.

Bryan got three. Woodsmall fumbled but recovered with a yard gain. Then Bryan smashed the center of the line for the score. His kick was wide again. Score Tiger, 25, Columbia 13.

The fourth quarter opened with the ball on the Tiger 28 yard line in possession of the Kewpies. Two first downs and it was on the 12-yard line. Cox fumbled and lost three yards. Estes then carried and went the 15 yards for the score. Simpson's kick was wide. This made the score Smith-Cotton 25, Columbia 19.

Wanting insurance the Tigers took over on the kickoff on their own 28 yard line. On five first downs the ball moved to the Kewpies eight-yard line. Bryan on two plays made five and three for the touchdown and this time his kick was good. Score Smith-Cotton 32, Columbia 19.

Tigers Outclass Kewpies In Cross Country Meet

Smith-Cotton Cross-Country Tigers defeated the Hickman Kewpies of Columbia in a meet held at Liberty Park, Friday afternoon, seven to 19. The low score in the Cross-Country team is the winner.

The Tiger score is based upon the first, second and fourth place finishes of James Kresse, first, time 8:11, Clarence Underhill, second, (8:22), and Kenneth Keele, fourth, (8:29).

Columbia's score was based on Backus, who finished third (8:28), McCreary, sixth, (8:46), and Cook, 10th, (9:09).

Fifth, seventh, eighth and ninth places won by Tigers were not noted, as they were "pushers." Dick Craig, fifth, (8:44), Gary Siron, seventh, (8:51), Joe Reed, eighth, (9:04), and Cecil Ravenscraft, ninth, (9:05).

The race was run over a mile and a half course at 5:30 p.m. Columbia was able to start only three men of their team.

Smith-Cotton's next meet will be at Coler's on Nov. 2, followed by the State meet to be held on Nov. 15th, at St. Louis.

Navy Takes 27 to 14 Victory Over Georgia

NORFOLK, Va., Oct. 19 (AP)—Unpredictable Navy breezed to a 27-14 lead over Georgia in the 11th annual Oyster Bowl football game today, and while it was resting on its oars saw the advantage dwindle to seven points before it aroused itself to register a 27-14 victory.

Kewpies turned to passing and on two tries picked up six and five yards. On the fourth down the pass was incomplete as the game ended.

The Tigers win 32 to Kewpies 19.

Gavilan Will Meet Ortega Tuesday Nite

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 19 (AP)—Ex-champion Kid Gavilan of Cuba and Gaspar Ortega of Tijuana, Mex., meet in the ring at Wrigley Field Tuesday in what they hope will be an elimination fight toward filling the world welterweight championship vacated by Carmen Basilio.

The 31-year-old Kid, rated sixth among the 147-pounders, and Ortega, who will be 22 tomorrow, are scheduled for 12 rounds. Ortega is ranked seventh.

The Hollywood Legion Stadium is promoting the scrap, which will not be televised. The fight is expected to draw 10,000 or more fans, including several thousand of Ortega's countrymen.

Gavilan is a slight favorite to defeat Ortega. He outpointed Ortega two months ago in Miami.

The title was left open when Basilio won the middle weight championship from Sugar Ray Robinson.

Gavilan lost the crown to Johnny Saxton in Philadelphia in 1954. He never got another shot at the title.

Vince Martinez, a leading contender for the open title, has been offered $40,000 by Hollywood matchmaker Jackie Leonard to meet the winner here in another elimination bout.

Also prominent in the national picture is ex-champion Tony De Marco.

Southwest State Will Begin Basketball Practice Monday

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 19 (AP)—Basketball practice begins Monday at Southwest Missouri State College with six lettermen on the squad.

Illinois Upsets Fourth Rated Gophers 34-13

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 19 (AP)—The slithering running of halfback Bob Mitchell, hospitalized earlier in the week with a temperature, touched off an Illinois homecoming explosion today that blew apart Minnesota, the nation's fourth-ranked team 34-13.

While 69,619 fans cheered the two-touchdown underdog Illini and millions of others watched on the national TV hookup, Coach Ray Eliot's upset-minded team, deluged the Gophers, 21-0, by halftime, and maintained the pressure to hand them their first defeat in four starts.

In gaining its second triumph, in four games, Illinois duplicated its homecoming ambush of last year when it trimmed Michigan State, then the nation's No. 1 team, 20-13, in one of the season's biggest surprises.

Mitchell, a 190-pound senior from Hot Springs, Ark., who won All-Big Ten honors as a sophomore and was hobbled with injuries in 1956, time and again split the big Minnesota defenses with his eel-like runs.

And while the Gophers were trying to contend with Mitchell's slipperiness, a 205-pound junior fullback from Chicago, Jack Delvaux, riddled them down the middle and quarterback Tom Haller, a junior from Lockport, Ill., harassed them with passes.

Waterfowl Hunting Season Opens Friday

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 19 (AP)—The waterfowl hunting season opens in northern Missouri next Friday—it opens in southern Missouri, too, but to little avail according to all predictions.

The Missouri season runs from Oct. 25 through Jan. 2 with shooting hours from a half hour before sunrise to sunset.

Under the present weather pattern it would be a long and useless day for most hunters in the southern half of the state. There just aren't enough ducks and geese in the area to make hunting successful even a long shot gamble.

Undefeated Duke Whip Wake Forest 34 to 7

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 19 (AP)—Fifth-ranked Duke, warming up for next week's game with unbeaten North Carolina State, exploded for 34 points in the first half and rolled to a 34-7 victory over winless Wake Forest in an Atlantic Coast Conference football game today.

Sports Scraps

TOP honors in the Central Missouri Conference are now presently in the hands of the Smith-Cotton Tigers by virtue of defeating the Hickman Kewpies of Columbia 32 to 19 Friday night. The locals are almost assured of a three-way tie for first place and a good chance of winning the title by defeating Jefferson City next Friday.

As it has happened Columbia defeating Jefferson City next Friday.

As it has happened Columbia defeated the Jays a week ago at their Homecoming, then the Tigers had a happy day beating Columbia at its Homecoming, and next Friday it is the Jays Homecoming in Jefferson City. Columbia's score over the Jays was 31 to 14.

All three teams defeated Hannibal, but Sedalia's 33 to 12 score was the most impressive. Columbia beat the Pirates 12-6 while the Jays had a 20-6 score. Comparing the Jays with the Tigers against Fulton, the Tigers in their first game beat Fulton 26 to 0, the Jays won over them 26 to 6.

But the tables turned slightly when Columbia beat the Jays 31 to 14, and by virtue of the Tiger victory over the Kewpies they should and are favored over Jefferson City. Yet anything can happen in a football game, especially high school football, and it is for sure, the Jays will try their utmost to upset the Sedalians.

The CMC Coaching heads firmly believe the game with the Jays will be the deciding factor, yet Smith-Cotton has to meet the Mexico high school who the Jays scored out 21-14, and Kemper M. A. over who the Jays won 26-0.

IN victory the Tigers looked good, it was a well played game, but from my standpoint not as good as they played against Springfield Central although they lost. Coach "Stub" Dow is of the same opinion, but was gratified by the victory over the Kewpies.

The team clicked fairly well, but we have to give Dick Woodsmall a pat on the back for this game. Dick played a heads up game and was calmer in this affair than any so far this season. His handoffs were positive, and he was alert at all times.

To me the outstanding play of the game was the pitchout by Woodsmall to Tommy Herrick to the left who made a beautiful pass to Marshall Bryan in the end zone for the Tigers third touchdown. It was perfect timing on the part of all three boys. Little Tommy Herrick, and I say little because I believe he is the smallest back in the entire conference, provided headache trouble for the Kewpies.

Athletics Sign Two Pitchers for Minors

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 19 (AP)—The Kansas City Athletics today announced the signing of two young pitchers who will be assigned to the A's farm club, Abilene, Tex., in the Big State League.

Phillip Waddell, 19, of Frankfort, Mo., and Donald Stanley Hadfield, 18, of Baltimore, Md., were given contracts. They will report to the A's minor league training camp next spring.

Hadfield is right handed.

Army's Late Scoring Whips Pitt 29 to 13

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 19 (AP)—Army shook Pete Dawkins loose twice in the final quarter today and scored a smashing 29-13 victory over Pitt's Panthers in a game that had been expected to settle the unofficial Eastern football championship.

It was a stirring, surprising finish to what had started out as a grind-it-out struggle with Pitt dominating the first half.

Army scored once in the third quarter, strictly on slashes through the line, to take a 13-6 lead. Then Dawkins, a junior from Royal, Ok., Mich., who started out as a T quarterback, got loose to take a 32-yard scoring pass from Dame Bourland and to set up a field goal by Maurice Hilliard with a 54-yard run.

Those two plays broke up the ball game, but before it was over Pitt scored again on a long pass from Ivan Tonic to Dick Haley and gave away another to Army.

The 29 points scored by Army today was the biggest total ever made against a Pitt team in the three years Johnny Michelosen has coached the Panthers. It surpassed the 26 points made by Oklahoma in handing Pitt its first defeat this season.

Each team scored once in the first half. Army got a quick one after an early break on a punt that touched a Pitt player. Pitt marched it on a 37-yard Tonic to Dick Scherer pass after pushing the Army line all over the field but being stopped twice at the 10-yard line.

Of 71 "expected" football players at Texas Christian University this year, only nine will be using their final year of eligibility.

Big Eight Victory Mizzou Tigers Rip Iowa State 35-13

AMES, Iowa, Oct. 19 (AP)—Three Missouri fullbacks alternately slashed the Iowa State line in vicious bursts today and brought the Tigers a hard-earned 35-13 Big Eight Conference football victory.

The Tigers, in their conference opener, moved 52, 53 and 77 yards for touchdowns on the legs of fullbacks Hank Kuhlmann, Roger McCoy and Fred Henger.

Three of Missouri's touchdowns came on plunges of a yard, with quarterback Phil Snowden getting a pair. Kuhlmann got the other. Until Snowden found Charles James unprotected in the end zone late in the fourth quarter and hit the halfback with a pass, Iowa State always was in the game.

Dwight Nichols, sophomore halfback, brought Iowa State a 7-7 half-time tie on a one-yard run. The Cyclones moved 58 yards in 10 plays after Jim Lary, with only one defender between him and a 90-yard touchdown, got back 42 yards with Missouri's kickoff after its first score.

The Cyclones narrowed Missouri's lead to 21-13 in the fourth period when Jack Falter recovered Kuhlmann's fumble in the end zone.

Missouri struck swiftly for the clinching touchdowns. Snowden flipped a pass to Jerry Curtright for the final score after Russ Sloan picked off Nichols' pass on the Iowa State 34. Charles Rash kicked four extra points, giving him 11 without a miss this year.

Ignited by the off tackle slants of the three fullbacks, Missouri assumed control of the game in the second quarter and dominated the rest of the way.

Henger sparked a 61-yard drive that ended abruptly when Gale Gibson covered Snowden's fumble on the Iowa State 12. Then the Tigers forced a punt and moved 52 yards for their initial touchdown. McCoy, a sophomore, and Kuhlmann, a junior like Henger, carried the ball eight times in the 11-play series.

In the third quarter Kuhlmann ran through the line five times as Missouri needed just seven plays to cover the 53 yards.

Curtright took a lateral from Snowden and ran 61 yards for the longest run of the day but McCoy fumbled on the next play. However, Curtright's run to the Iowa State five unexpectedly set up the clinching score. Al Rick points.

James cut off another march a few minutes later by intercepting Nichols' pass on the 16.

A crowd of 16,000 watched Missouri win its first game against Iowa State at Ames since 1949. Missouri 35, Iowa State 13.

South African Runner Sets Unofficial Record

WALTON, England, Oct. 19 (AP)—South African long distance runner Gerald Walsh set an unofficial world record for 40 and 50 miles today.

He covered 40 miles in 4 hours, 4 minutes, 34 seconds and passed the 50-mile mark in five hours, 16 minutes and 7 seconds.

Afterwards Walsh, showing only a blistered toe on his left foot for his trouble, said he had run 2,400 miles in the past six months in preparation for the attempt.

Jackie Mekler of South Africa set the previous best time for the distance. Walsh beat his countryman's 40-mile mark by 13 minutes, 40 seconds and the 50-mile time by 8 minutes, 50.8 seconds.

Carl Braun, who has been signed for another year by the New York Knickerbockers, holds the Knicks' all-time single game high of 47 up the clinching score. Al Rick points.

Sooners Trample Kansas State 47-0

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 19 (AP)—Oklahoma made three touchdowns in the first quarter then toyed with Kansas the remainder of their Big Eight Conference contest for a 47-0 victory and the Sooners' 44th straight triumph today.

The Sooners, ranked No. 2 in the nation's football picture, ran up 447 yards rushing in winning their second conference game of the season. It was their 51st consecutive win without a loss in loop play.

Kansas, slowed down by injuries, was no match for the Big Eight team and the closest the Jayhawks could get to the Oklahoma goal was the Sooner 32 in a fourth quarter drive that ended with a fumble.

Kansas handed Oklahoma three easy touchdowns on two fumbles and an intercepted pass but Oklahoma also fumbled away the ball to Kansas three times as it knocked at the Jayhawk scoring gates. The Sooners scored in each quarter. Alternate team quarterback David Baker and alternate fullback David Rolle made two touchdowns each while starting right half Clendon Thomas, alternate right half Dick Carpenter and starting left half Jackie Sandefur each contributed one.

Kansas, which has split four games this season, played its best defensive game of the season but was no match for the five teams Oklahoma coach Bud Wilkinson sent against them.

Oklahoma, looking for its tenth straight Big Eight crown, wasted no time in scoring as it took the kickoff and marched 58 yards. Thomas scooted over from the six and quarterback Carl Dodd converted. Thomas led the game's rushing, chewing up 120 yards in 15 tries.

Late in the period the Sooners made two quick touchdowns in one and a half minutes. Baker scored from the four yard line after a 51-yard drive. Then alert Dick Corbett, alternate right guard, recovered his first of two Kansas fumbles which were turned into touchdowns. Baker passed 18 yards to Rolle for the score.

Baker converted after the second and third touchdowns to give the Sooners a 21-0 edge at the end of the first quarter.

In the second period Oklahoma continued to push around Kansas but miscues held them to one touchdown. It came at the end of a 37-yard trek as Boyd passed to Carpenter seven yards over the goal.

Two errors put Oklahoma on the trail of two more touchdowns in the third quarter. First, Baker intercepted a Kansas pass on the Jayhawk 36 and returned it to the 11. On the next play Rolle swept around right tackle to score.

A minute and a half later Corbett smothered another fumble on the Kansas 16 and Baker scored two plays later from the eight. Boyd converted to give Oklahoma a comfortable 40-0 edge at the end of the period.

The final tally came in the middle of the fourth quarter. Jackie Sandefur ran around right end five yards to score and Dodd converted.

Fulton Eagles Drub Hubbard High 39 to 7

The Hubbard High School Tigers were defeated Friday night at Fulton by the Missouri School for the Deaf Eagle football team 39 to 7. The Eagles rolled to a substantial lead from the opening kickoff of the game and were never threatened by the Tigers.

The Eagles scored four times in the opening quarter "icing" down the game, and were given much help on Hubbard fumbles.

Eight Tiger fumbles—five of which the Eagles recovered—provided the Missouri School for the Deaf with the breaks to halt their losing streak at three games.

Marching 70 yards from their own 30 yard line they took charge on the opening kickoff, brought about the first touchdown within three minutes after the clock started. It was Harold Deuel, former Sedalia, who provided the first score on a quarterback keep, but he failed to run the extra point.

MSD gained possession of the ball on the 33-yard line when Hubbard fumbled on the Tigers' first series of offensive plays. Another quarterback keeper, Deuel broke through for 25 yards for the second score, and then plunged through the center of the line for the extra point. This made it 13 to 0.

Hubbard fumbled again on the next offensive attempt and John Menn, pounced upon the ball in the end zone for the third MSD touchdown. Near the end of the quarter, Hubbard fumbled on the 34-yard line and the Eagles recovered, and they drove the remaining distance with fullback Roy Bryon scoring from the six-yard line and Bobby Huffman went over for the extra point. This gave the Eagles a 26-0 lead at the quarter.

Both teams went scoreless in the second period and the score remained 26-0 at the halftime.

In the third quarter Bobb Eakins of MSD went 70 yards, on a punt return for the Eagles' next score and the try for extra point failed.

Ernest McFadders, Tiger left half back, was credited with the lone Sedalia touchdown. McFadders made the score on a 26-yard run, and ran the extra point.

The Hubbard Tigers will play their Homecoming game on October 25th at the Jennie Jaynes Memorial Stadium gridiron. The Tigers will meet the Columbia Bulldogs of Douglas high school.

Southwest State Comes From Behind to Upend Northeast State 32-26

KIRKSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 19 (AP)—Southwest Missouri State scored three touchdowns in the third period and came from behind to defeat Northeast Missouri State Teachers College 32 to 26 today.

Left halfback Pete Bybel scored four of the winners' tallies, the first one on a two-yard slash off tackle and the others on passes from quarterback Jerry Birmingham. One pass play was good for 45 yards, the second 21 and the third 86. In the third period, center Law Marazza stole the ball from Kirkville's quarterback as he attempted to hand off. Then Marazza galloped 37 yards for a touchdown.

Fullback Charles Fitzgerald scored three touchdowns for Kirkville, all on one-yard smashes. The other Kirkville TD was marked up by halfback Dale Mills, who raced 53 yards around end in the second quarter.

Iowa led 21-7 much to the comfort of a record Iowa crowd of 58,147 homecomers.

Iowa Maintains Clean Record With 23 to 14 Victory Over Wisconsin

IOWA CITY, Iowa, Oct. 19 (AP)—Undeclared Iowa had its great big hands full today in pulling out a 21-7 victory over Wisconsin in an exciting Big Ten football duel.

Wisconsin, the early season surprise in the conference with a 23-14 triumph over Purdue, made the defending Big Ten champs hustle every minute.

A 44-yard dash down the sidelines by Bill Gravel with an intercepted pass early in the fourth quarter provided Iowa with its insurance touchdown. Bob Prescott made his third straight conversion

Buffaloes Wallop K-State 42-14 In Big 8 Tilt

MANHATTAN, Kan., Oct. 19 (AP)—The University of Colorado's spearhead Buffaloes, with halfbacks Bob Stransky and Eddie Dove scoring three touchdowns apiece, shattered the Kansas State Wildcats 42-14 in a Big Eight football game today.

The Buffaloes, who brought their season's record to 3 victories against one tie and one loss, ran up an amazing total of 647 yards rushing and passing. The Buffs made 478 on the ground and added 169 through the air.

Stransky, a 181-pound senior from Yankton, S. D., came in to the game with a rushing average of six yards for four fills. He helped himself to a nifty 168 yards rushing and completed 5 of 6 passes for 93 yards. His longest job was a 46-yard touchdown sprint.

It was strictly no contest played before a homecoming air crowd of 14,000 that had anticipated a rip-roaring offensive battle. Only the weather, dry and in the upper 50s, was good for the K-staters.

Purdue Defeats Spartans 20-13

EAST LANSING, Mich., Oct. 19 (AP)—Injured, ailing and underrated Purdue pulled a stunning football upset today by knocking off Michigan State, the top rated collegiate team in the nation, by a convincing 20-13 score.

The MSU Spartans were a 21 point favorite going into the game and were expected to run all over the bruised Bolleymakers who had the added handicap of having some key men missing because of the flu.

But 18-year-old Ross Fichter, a green-as-grass sophomore quarterback, had different ideas and directed his Purdue crew to the upset with all the poise of a pro veteran.

The only thing in recent football history that could compare with this shocker was the time that Purdue did the exact thing here a few years ago.

That was in 1953, Purdue stopped a 28-game Spartan winning streak with a 6-0 triumph. The situation was the same going into this one. Michigan State had won its first three starts and Purdue had lost its first three.

Texas Longhorns Hand Arkansas First Loss Of Season 17 to 0

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 19 (AP)—Texas, led by Bobby Lackey and George Blanch, turned three Arkansas mistakes into scores today and applied terrific defensive pressure to win 17-0.

The upset dealt a severe blow to previously undefeated Arkansas' Southwest Conference title hopes and put the Longhorns up among the league's top contenders.

Halfback Blanch grabbed a punt that had been touched by Arkansas to pave the way for a field goal and quarterback Lackey hopped on a fumble that started the Longhorns on the way to a touchdown and an early 10-0 lead.

Fred Bednarski, a soccer-type kicker who uses a sideways foot motion, kicked the field goal after the Longhorns had been halted on the Arkansas 23 in the first quarter.

Queen Watches Maryland Upset N. C. 21 to 7

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Oct. 19 (AP)—Maryland upset North Carolina 21-7 today, giving Queen Elizabeth II of Great Britain a much more thrilling show of American football than had been expected.

North Carolina was favored by two touchdowns but an 81-yard touchdown run by Ted Kershner broke a 7-7 tie in the last quarter and then Maryland added a third touchdown on a 67-yard march down the field.

The capacity crowd of 43,000 went wild in the last half to provide a background of enthusiasm that appeared to delight the queen and Prince Philip.

The game, selected for viewing by the royal visitors as being typical of American football, started tamely enough with the officials carrying the ball as much as the players. This kept the governor of Maryland, Theodore R. McKeldin, and the president of the University of Maryland, Wilson Elkins, very busy explaining things to the queen.

But things got boiling in the second half, and more than made up for a dull opening.

Syracuse Shakes Off Cornhusker Lead to Win 26-9

LINCOLN, Neb., Oct. 19 (AP)—Undeclared Syracuse shook off an early 7-9 deficit with a two-touchdown surge in the second quarter and went on to crush Nebraska 26 to 9 in their first inter-sectional football meeting since 1929.

Although confined fairly well on the ground, Syracuse threw a superior passing attack at the three-beaten Nebraska Cornhuskers to roll up the decisive win.

Pass plays of 40 and 16 yards figured in an initial 73-yard touchdown drive, capped by Tom Stephens' one-yard scoring run and Dick Lasse's kick for the point.

Nebraska rallied to score two minutes later and capitalized on a Syracuse fumble before the first quarter was over to set the stage for a field goal, which put Nebraska ahead, 9-7.

But a recovered fumble and a pass interception set Syracuse up for two TD's in the second quarter and the outcome thereafter was never in serious doubt.

Neither team could muster an effective offense in the third quarter but Syracuse iced its victory with a nightcap tally in the final period.

School Is Started Again In Oldest Moslem Center

CAIRO — School has started again in a thousand-year-old university in the shadow of the domes and minarets of Old Cairo. Enrolled this year are students from 34 countries where the muezzin calls "Allahu akbar" (God is great from the minaret).

The university, called El Azhar, is the oldest Moslem center of learning. It clings to traditions and systems begun in days when men thought the world was flat.

Even so, it is the intellectual center of the Moslem world. When its council of elders issues a decree, the impact is felt wherever the faithful gather. Its graduates fan out to carry the message of Islam to the ends of the earth.

There is no green campus, no football stadium, no ivied wall. El Azhar is a large mosque topped by three minarets. Around the columns inside, the students literally sit at the feet of learned sheikhs to study the Koran and Moslem theology.

In narrow streets and bazaars about El Azhar, the population buys and sells as it has for a Millennium. Merchants sitting crosslegged on carpets puff heavily on hubble-bubble pipes.

The air is heavy with a mixture of odors—amber perfume, tobacco smoke, broiling mutton, and spices of every kind. A woman shopper screams imprecations at a merchant who won't bring down his price. A donkey driver shouts at pedestrians to get out of the way. A weary taxicab chugs through the crowd, patiently honking as it inches along.

You step out of this noisy world into the calm and repose of the mosque.

On the left as you enter is a wooden stand where students pigeonhole their shoes. No one wears shoes inside the mosque.

Through another arch is the sunny, stone-paved courtyard, arched on three sides. The row of arches on the east opens into a forest of columns inside the sanctuary itself. Here the gloom is cut by beams of sunlight filtered through multicolored windows near the ceiling. A mihrab (prayer niche) points the way to Mecca, toward which the faithful face when they pray.

Around almost every column a circle of students squats crosslegged on soft carpets covering the floor. Seated on a wooden bench with his back to the column is a lecturer, usually bearded and wearing the white and red turban of the azhar zheikh, or learned man.

The students represent a cross-section of the Moslem world. They may be black men from Nigeria, yellow men from China, or white men from Albania. But all of them study and argue in Arabic, and almost every sheikh has his hands full coping with alert young students quick to catch the teacher in error.

In a class in grammar, the sheikh may spend endless hours teaching students the nine ways of reciting "in the name of Allah the merciful, the compassionate," opening words of the Koran.

The students study until they have acquired sufficient knowledge to pass examinations. When they have passed a probationary period, they may qualify to receive rations, supplied by income from sacred endowments. These endowments—"waqfs"—also support the sheikhs and generally cover the expenses of the university.

Some of the students are old men who have devoted a lifetime to study in El Azhar.

Ozarks Arts and Crafts Show Has 'Wide Variety on Display

By Leslie G. Kennon
(Missouri Division of Resources and Development)

BRANSON, Mo.—The old saying is "everything from soup to nuts" and the Missouri Ozarks Arts and Crafts Show, held here recently in an attempt to show off quality crafts being produced on an industrial basis, certainly proved the old adage. Ceramics, hand-woven purses, baskets, exquisite cedar furniture, even cornshuck hats greeted the tourists, buyers and interested folks who visited this unique display.

Second of its kind, the idea is to give folks (and especially buyers) a chance to see the quality products put out by Ozarks craftsmen and, on the other hand, to encourage these craftsmen to hire others to help them fill increasingly large orders.

Green Ridge WMS Mission Program

The Green Ridge Baptist WMS recently held its regular meeting at the church.

Mrs. George Spickert conducted a business session after which Mrs. Pete Billings presented the program, "Pakistan, New Field for Southern Baptist". All members present assisted with the program.

The regular state mission program was held at the home of Mrs. Ethel Sims, Oct. 2. Mrs. Sims was in charge of the program, "Our Neighbor's Needs".

Mrs. Forrest Stout gave the devotional which was followed by prayer.

Mrs. Ethel Sims presented the following for officers for 1958, vice-president, Mrs. W. F. Hollenbeck; Mrs. Pete Billings, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Howard Kisee, program chairman; Mrs. S. Charles Moore, prayer chairman; Mrs. George Chaney, missions chairman and Mrs. Ethel Sims, mission study director; Mrs. Forrest Stout, youth study director.

If you could see the high caliber of these products, you'd be easily convinced of the skill and creativeness of these Ozarks (both native and transplanted) people.

The whole idea started with the extension service — a program of the Federal Rural Development Office and the extension office in Columbia. It began last year with only Taney Counties entering. But inquiries and pressure to enlarge the show was so great that this year there were exhibitors from five counties—Greene, Stone, Ozark, Christian and Douglas — and buyers from three states.

People got the idea last year, officials said, that it was a "hobby" show — but they found out differently. The products are manufactured items, for sale, of high caliber and produced by skilled craftsmen, and they were products more or less unique to the Ozarks and items which could be used — not just seen.

One of the most outstanding exhibits, for example, was that of rustic cedar furniture, produced by the "Vi-o-Lyn", Ozark Crafts Furniture Co.

Vi Asselin, in his travels with Uncle Sam, decided to locate in the Ozarks and after settling decided to produce rustic cedar furniture. This polished, absolutely beautiful material can now be found in restaurants, rathskellers, rummies and such throughout the nation (for example, in Odessa, Tex., Memphis, Wichita, Lincoln, Nebr., Codery, Wis., the Lake of the Ozarks, Phoenix, Ariz., Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and even Hawaii).

"Not only natives, but a lot of transplanted folks from other places come here to engage in these small businesses," explained Vi's wife, Lynn. "In fact, a lot of them come here to retire, get into business, and find they've got so many orders they have to come out of retirement."

One family, for example, raises its own competition. They have 23 children and nearly all of them are basket weavers.

V. G. Baker of Hilda makes outdoor — what he calls patio — furniture of cedar, walnut and sycamore. He spent 20 years in Texas oil-fields, came here two years ago with this business in mind (he's a native of Hollister and went to the School of the Ozarks). Today, he's a wholesaler.

C. E. Boyd of Galena has been a rural mail carrier for 31 years. He started designing and making ceramics as a hobby. Now it's grown until he plans to retire and do this full time. He already has a small group working for him seasonally.

Redding Novelty Company is one of the biggest in the area. It's been retailing since 1938 and wholesaling since 1943. Products include handcraft baskets, cornshuck hats (made in Thayer), items of walnuts, L-M Ceramics (made by two ladies at nearby Walnut Shade), etc.

The whole thing is an art. These basket weavers, for example. This art is passed from generation to generation — and it's far from a simple craft. Timber must be found with no knots, and shaved into strips. Then, by hand and painstakingly, the craftsman makes frames (ribs) and weaves his wet strips around the form. He adds his own "marks" — like handles, or special designs.

The beautiful mosaic stone is another Ozark product on display. M. R. McCall, a Chicago production specialist, moved to the Ozarks and bought the Table Rock Stone Yard. His wife, Edith S. McCall, is a famed author of children's books.

From display to display, you get the story: native Ozarkians passing their craft down through the generations; transplanted city folks who fell in love with this tranquil and scenic Shepherd of the Hills country; people who retired but had too much energy and went back to work.

All this makes up the crafts and arts of the Ozarks — and the future of a really booming and exciting business. It contributes heavily to the economy of the area (supplementing the huge tourist industry) and it creates a worthwhile, artistic livelihood for hundreds of persons.

More than that, it's a business which promises to create additional employment and economy through expansion needed to fill the rush of orders which are asking for the quality products being manufactured in the Ozarks, by Ozarks craftsmen, for distribution all over the U. S.

Mrs. John Austin Cooney

Sydonna Hackler Becomes Bride Of John Austin Cooney Sunday

Before an altar set with baskets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums and two seven-branch candles holding lighted tapers, Miss Sydonna Louise Hackler and John Austin Cooney were united in marriage at the Epworth Methodist Church Sunday, October 6. The Rev. Ralph Hurd performed the double ring ceremony at half past two o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Hackler, 1104 East Tenth, and the bridegroom's parents are Mrs. Austin Cooney of Providence, R.I., and the late Mr. Cooney.

Mrs. Paul Bethoux, organist, played a program of wedding music preceding the ceremony which included "To a Wild Rose," "I Love Thee" and "Indian Love Call." Miss Lois Green sang "Because," "I Love You Truly" and at the close of the service "The Lord's Prayer."

As the candles were lighted by Miss Carol Hackler, Higginsville, and Miss Sonja Hackler, Lexington, cousins of the bride, Mrs. Berthoux played "At Dawning." They wore identical gowns of white brocade with yellow tulle ruffles and shoulder corsages of yellow roses.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a frost white gown of imported hand-clipped Chantilly lace over bridal satin. The elongated bodice which was closely fitted was designed of white gladioli and chrysanthemums holding lighted tapers, line to highlight the lace pattern and a band of white satin finished with a soft bow at the center front outlining the high empire line of the bodice. The very bouffant skirt of many tulle ruffles lengthened at the back to form a sweep train. An uncut panel of bordered lace overlaid the tulle skirt, apron length across the front and cascading to the hemline at the sides and back. Her headress was a white satin cap with a wreath of white pearl orange blossoms which held a fingertip illusion veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink roses surrounded by white carnations.

Preceding the bride to the altar was little Johnny DeMott, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon DeMott, who carried the rings on a white satin pillow with imported lace.

Little Margaret Hurtt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hurtt, was flower girl. She wore a dress of white brocade with yellow and carried a basket of rose petals.

Mrs. Don Neve served as bridesmaid. Her gown was of sea green brocade with yellow matching tulle. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink and white carnations.

Miss Sandra Maune served as maid of honor. Her gown was of pink brocade with yellow matching tulle and she also carried pink and white carnations.

Harold Hackler served as best man and Don Nave was groomsmen. Roger Hudson and Jerry Brown of Whiteman AFB, ushered.

The bride's mother was attired in a gray two-piece dress suit with black accessories and pink rose corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a blue lace sheath with matching accessories and pink rose corsage.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception was held in the church basement for 150 guests.

The bride's table was covered with a lace cloth over pink tulle and centered with a four-tier wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom.

Mrs. Muriel Henderson, Mrs. Roy Siegel, Miss Sandra Maune, Mrs. Don Neve, Miss Carol Hackler and Miss Sonja Hackler served. Mrs. Bill Garrett was in charge of the guest book.

For traveling, the bride wore an off white two-piece wool suit trimmed in toast brown with matching accessories.

The bride is a graduate of Smith-Cotton High School and is employed at Taylor-Wagner Co.

The bridegroom is stationed at Whiteman AFB.

Out of town guests included: Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Wilson, Grandview; Mrs. J. M. Hackler, grandmother of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hackler and Sonja, Lexington; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Hackler and Carol Ann, Higginsville; Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Hackler, Bruce and

Linda Turner To Tell Sorosis Of Germany

The experiences of a young American girl on a farm for eight weeks at Metting, Germany, with a family where only the oldest boy and girl spoke English and the American girl couldn't speak German should prove to be a very delightful program at Sorosis Monday afternoon.

The girl, of course, is Linda Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Turner, Route 2, herself a farm girl but from a typical modern American farm which is very different from the farm where she lived for a time in Germany.

But Linda fit in very well with her family in Germany and her teenage impressions and experiences will be as refreshing as a summer breeze.

Linda who was the first American Field Service Student from Sedalia to be sent to a foreign country sponsored by the Sedalia Chapter, American Association of University Women, will be introduced by Mrs. George Lockett, civic chairman. There will be a luncheon.

To Confer Exemplar Degree Thursday Night

A Beta Sigma Phi-er's activities are varied, she does all she can to aid in community projects and drives; she enjoys socials with her fellow members, and she studies a cultural program each year. Upon joining Beta Sigma Phi the girl receives a pledge badge which she wears one year. Her next degree is the Ritual of Jewels which gives her full fellowship. On completion of four years of cultural programs she is eligible for the Exemplar Degree.

Those to receive the Exemplar Degree and badge are Mrs. Pat Bingaman, Mrs. Connie Brummet, Mrs. Dorothy Iuchs, Mrs. Betty Landon, Mrs. Elva Lee Parks and Mrs. Ronnie Trotter.

The next meeting will be Nov. 8 with Mrs. James Meyer.

Mr. and Mrs. John Lange, Lincoln, announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Ella, to Johnny Mehrens, son of Mrs. Blanche Mehrens and the late Louis Mehrens. The wedding will take place November 10.

HOSE PROBLEMS
How many times have we seen a truly well-dressed woman walking ahead of us, but her hose seems crooked. Nothing looks more untidy, to say nothing of the fact that you acquire a bow-legged look. For some, it is just impossible to keep seams straight therefore they should wear seamless hose. They flatter the legs as well as looking chic and new. Seamless hose have a way of fitting the foot and legs, so that once you do wear them, you won't want anything else. They are especially smart for the person with thin legs or less shapely ones. A word on the care of hose. They should always be laundered with a good soap powder or flakes before wearing. Don't put them on while still damp and of course if you have rough hands or nails be extra careful in putting them on. Always buy your hose plenty long in the foot, and in getting seamless hose it is wise to get them a half size larger.

For a quiet, restful living or T.V. room use a white ground wallpaper with black outline design, either a small or large pattern (depending on the room) with perhaps a touch of copper or gold in the paper.

These walls would lend themselves to decorative wall hangings such as silhouettes framed in black and gold molding; brass wall planters; or a big brass eagle with wings outspread above a black lacquered chest or table.

Flying Club Organized In Sedalia

At a recent meeting in the offices of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce the Sedalia Flying Club was organized. This club is open to anyone who is interested in flying regardless of their previous flight experience.

Membership applications and information concerning the club can be obtained from Jerome Schenk whose farm is about six miles west of Sedalia or from Tom Connor at Weathers Court, apt. D-2.

The club has been formed to make flying available to more people at less cost. The club will own aircraft for the use of club members only.

Those present at the last meeting voted to secure all available information concerning an Aeronca Champ for sale near here. At the next meeting a decision will be made on the purchase of the club's first aircraft and flying activities will begin as soon as the plane is secured.

This first plane will be used mainly for training purposes for student pilots who join the club.

Membership in the club can be one of two types. The cost of membership is $50 for either a single member or for a member and his wife (or her husband). The family type application entitles the wife or husband to all privileges of the club including the club flying rates.

A suggested constitution and by-laws is to be presented at the next meeting for the approval of members and others interested.

The next meeting of the club will be Wednesday, Oct. 23, at the Chamber of Commerce office at 7:30 p.m. Anyone interested is urged to attend this meeting.

Sacred Heart Students Hold Initiation

By JIM COURIG

The freshmen were officially accepted by the upperclassmen following their initiation on Monday night, Oct. 7. A large crowd of parents and upperclassmen watched 32 freshmen on their initiation. The grand inquisitors, John Buckley and Tom Moser, proceeded with the initiation. It was the largest and best in the history of Sacred Heart High.

Following the initiation the seniors sponsored a dance to welcome the new students to Sacred Heart. Sister M. Rosella principal and head of the mathematics department, was taken to Kansas City where she underwent surgery Oct. 13. The students were asked to remember her in their prayers and hope for a speedy recovery.

The first basketball and volleyball practices were held this week, with the teams getting into shape for their first game against Cole Camp. Coach Palmer Nichols and his assistant coach Bill Hodges will try to equal last year's record of 22 wins and 8 losses.

The seniors, champions of the 1957-58 Activity Drive, will crown their candidate, Ruth Ann Bahner, queen of the Activity Drive at the Alumni game. Attendants to the queen are as follows: Hannalora Taylor, junior; Catherine Mehl, sophomore; and Betty Martin of the freshman class.

Since the opening of the new Broadway Bowling Lanes, a large number of students have shown along with a gift from the entire class membership.

Many things have been accomplished by this class. New rest rooms on the church, the work all done by members of the class with some help and planning and work by others. The wives of some of the workers, with their paint and varnish brushes also helped. This fall new chairs were purchased by the church with the help of a contribution of $50 from this class.

Each year and for years the class adopts some family or families at Christmas time and makes life a little happier with their gifts of food, furniture and clothes.

The Reeds, having only one son, Perry W. of Jefferson City, have adopted the whole class and refer to them as their children.

IRISH EYES?—This is a year-old studio picture of actress Anna
 Kashfi, recent bride of Marlon Brando, who declares she is an Indian gal and is NOT the daughter of William Patrick
 O'Callaghan, of Cardiff, Wales, as he claims. Hollywoodites say that if she really is Irish, she's a better actress than they ever suspected.

Joan Caulfield Stars in New TV Program

By BOB THOMAS
HOLLYWOOD — What does Joan Caulfield have in common with Robert Cummings, Eve Arden, Richard Boone, Wally Cox and Gale Storm?

If you were up on your TV history, you'd know that all six have starred in two television series. Joan is the latest member of the two-time winners' club. Once the delight of "My Favorite Husband," she is now appearing on NBC Sunday nights in "Sally."

Provided her show isn't shot down by the sharp-shooting "Maverick" on ABC, Joan should find success with "Sally." Judging from last week's program, it appears to be one of the brighter spots in an otherwise dismal season. It had crisp writing, bright direction and sharp acting by Joan, Marion Lorne (the wonderful Mrs. Gurney of the late "Mister Peepers" show) and other accomplished actors.

"If people don't like our show, they just don't have taste," Joan says militantly. "I'm a tough audience. I've done some shows that make me cringe. But some of the 'Sally' shows have made me real proud."

Well, you gotta admit she's frank.

"Sally" is a family affair. Producing the show is Frank Ross, Joan's husband.

She said at first her husband said he would merely get the series started and then bow out—but now you can't pry him away from it. The producer of "The Robe," he is now making a movie with Frank Sinatra, Tony Curtis and Natalie Wood, as well as supervising "Sally."

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Nichols, Des Moines, Ia., recently visited Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Nichols.

Weekend guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Gulick were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Prim and daughters, North Kansas City, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Gulick and Bill, Kansas City. Sunday guests were Mr. and Mrs. Tom Gulick, Versailles, and Miss Beverly Cooper, Syracuse.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Gant and son went to Salem Wednesday to be with her mother, who is ill. Following surgery Thursday her condition was reported as improved.
